Pending the Angel

HODGE, Cal., April 19.—The radio news man calls through the ether, "The Bambino hits a homer," and passer on, like Dante's angel that came, and immediately flew away. That angel would not know the meaning of "Bambino hits a homer," but millions of Americans know that never heard of Dante's angel messenger. "Bambino" is the pet name of Mr. Ruth, who hit a baseball so hard that he has time to run all around the bases before the ball can be returned to the home plate.

Would the world really be better off if fewer of us knew about the Bambino and more had read Dante. Probably not. The President of our country "throws the ball" and is applauded. If, instead, he arose in the grandstand and recited: Nel mezzo del cammin di nostra vita, etc.

The "fans" would ask, "What's the matter with him."

Here a man makes a home run, a child is kidnapped, a few citizens are murdered in our bootleg crime wave, a few millions are handed out to save some financier that has a horror of the dose, when applied to working people, or some other monomaniacal happening is recorded, and instantly, everyone hears of it. Telegram and telephone carry it, the radio tells it, newspapers print it, neighbors discuss it.

In China, a dreadful earthquake has occurred, killing tens of thousands, and those reports trickle slowly, carried over rough roads, almost impossible, translated from one Chinese dialect to another. The earthquakes and its inconceivable horrors will have lost their interest before the full facts are known. Such is China.

News that may interest us as long as we live, and interest the world as long as history is written, comes from where Russia's powerful Soviet government is making troops and war materials. The peace gentlemen of the League of Nations are worried, knowing well that the League would be the first scrap of paper, in any war, Japanese stations are exercised, believing that attack by Russia is probable.

Those intelligent Orientals know that fighting Stalin's Russia would be similar to fighting Russia under the czar. That was a pleasant excursion. This would mean fighting millions of trained men, famished in their patriotic fervor, filled with the fervor of revolution that has always proved powerful in war.

It may be Russia's destiny to play the part of overlord in Asia, and lead as she chooses the hordes that once overran Western Europe. The possibility need not worry us, for, if Russia becomes so powerful, that they will become rich, and if they become rich, their ideas and plans will change.

A pleasant day at Hodge on the Mohave Desert. Temperature 84 in the shade, kept down by cool winds that blow over snow-covered mountains here and there and the Pacific. New York's temperature, according to a Los Angeles telephone report, is 33. Teachers here are hoping for really warm weather, to get the earth and make their alfalfa grow at night. With good hot sun, you grow a crop of alfalfa in three weeks.

The desert is alive with millions of lizards, scorpions, rattlesnakes, desert turtles that carry a supply of water with them, jack rabbits, coyotes that follow the rabbits and lyons powerful enough to eat the coyote, when hunger drives.

It is never lonely on this plateau, 2000 feet above the ocean. Automobiles roll by on the hard road that leads East and West, always more west-bound than east-bound. Sun-bathing, as clearly as though his orchestra stood in the room, you hear Walter Damrosch's admirable General Electric concert, that includes Brahms, the prelude to Liszt's symphonic poem and Mendelssohn's Scotch symphony. Such music makes the desert flowers and bushes brighter, and the sky more beautiful.

At 1 o'clock a shiny red Waco No. 1120, circled above the ranch, picked out a smooth, ready-made field and land, just outside the fence protecting alfalfa from rabbits. Three men climbed atop of their automobiles, chattered, talked about automobiles and about automobiles, and then they flew back to the Pacific. A rounding of six hours by automobile, two hours by plane.

Marion McKen, who pilots the plane, has flown 5500 paid hours and many other hours unpaid, for amusement. He has taught 161 men to fly and they are all alive. Much more on how to fly and fight. Hundreds of private pilots are now making a teaching. Ask your instructor for Page 7, Column 1.

Oliver's Bat Gives Sox 6 to 5 Win

(Play by Play, Page 15)
Braves Field, April 19.—Rebel Tom Oliver's timely hitting beat the Ruthless New York Yankees 6 to 5 in the seventh, the Yankees tied the count at five-all.

The brilliant centerfielder doubled with the bases loaded in the first inning to knock in two runs and came through with another two-bagger in the seventh to push over what proved to be the winning margin.

The Sox got off to a five-run lead in the first two innings, knocking Johnny Allen, Jersey City rookie, making his first big league start, to the showers.

The Yankees started after Ed Duhann and were trailing by only one run when they were hit by a grand slam in the seventh.

MAR-RAISING MARATHON FINISH STIRS 500,000; TIME IS 2:33:36.2-5

Paul de Bruyn, sturdily blond Marathon German champion, won today's B. A. A.'s Marathon in the near-record time of 2 hours, 33 minutes, 36 2-5 seconds, with "Smiling Jimmy" Henigan of Medford, last year's winner, running one of the game races of his long career, second.

Henigan, the first American to finish, came up steadily from the back and after battling DeBruyn up the deadly Newton hills, came up Exeter st. to the finish line about 225 yards behind him.

Henigan wins a place on the United States Olympic team by his sizzling race and takes home glory to Medford and his five children.

Willi Kyrnen, a Finn, representing the Finnish-American A. C. of New York, was third, giving the great race a real international color.

It was another local boy—Johnny McLeod, wearing the colors of the Dorchester Club, who provided another feature of the thrilling contest, leading at checking point after checking point, and always in record time, until he had to drop into a walk in Brookline. He did not finish in the first section.

Clarence DeMar, seven times winner and now 43 years old, was 17th, and his wife and mother threw kisses as he crossed the finish line.

Far more than half a million spectators all along the course of the 26.2-mile, 33 1-2 miles, saw one of the greatest marathon contests.

The crowd at the finish was huge.

HAS WINNING HABITS
DeBruyn, the winner, has won many championships in Germany and already has a place on the German Olympic team.

DeBruyn is only 24 years old, so it was a victory for youth, after many triumphs by the old-timers in this grueling race. He is a sailor.

Henigan battled him neck and neck through the Lake at section, after the German and the Medford man had passed the flying Pines and passed Will Kyrnen into the ground. Kyrnen had to give up.

Down into Beacon B. Brookline they went, chasing madly after Johnny McLeod and at Dean rd. the Dorchester club man, used to shorter distance, weakened from the terrific pace he had set.

DRAMATIC FINISH
Shoulder to shoulder, Henigan and DeBruyn passed McLeod, as the latter slowed into a walk. Then DeBruyn forged a lead in a good fourth. In fifth place the German, Henigan, and McLeod increased this slightly between there and the clubhouse.

Albert "Whitey" Michaelson of the Milrose A. A. New York came in a good fourth. In fifth place was William Steiner of New York. The German, Henigan, and McLeod increased this slightly between there and the clubhouse.

Alexander Burnside of the Monarchs A. C. Toronto came in sixth. He was the first Canadian across the line.

REVERE RIDES AGAIN AS MARATHON THRILLS THOUSANDS

"By the rude bridge that arches the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood
And fired the shot heard round the world"

Since 1920 the ride of William Dawes, Jr., has been emulated by Greater Boston patriotic folk. You see Sergt. Edgar H. Needham, Jr., riding as "Dawes." His starting place, Eliot sq., Roxbury. Needham is first sergeant of Troop E, 110th Cavalry.

Paul Revere and William Dawes were sent by Joseph Warren, hero of Bunker Hill, to inform John Hancock and Samuel Adams of the British advance and to warn Concord where Colonial stores were hidden. Revere left Charlestown at 11 o'clock. Dawes one hour earlier from Boston Neck.

Appropriate exercises are being held today in all the Middlesex towns through which Revere and Dawes rode.

CLASSIE'S WIFE DARROW TO ALEXANDER BY

By JAMES ADAM.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, T. H. April 19 (INS).—Dr. Thalia Massie, victim of an attack last September by five half-breeds that plunged her family into a struggle series of events which culminated in the shooting of Joseph Kahahawai, today was ordered by Chief Defense Counsel Clarence Darrow to attend the "honor slaying" trial for the first time.

Darrow said that Mrs. Massie would be a witness for the defense later in the week, and today it was anxious for her to familiarize herself with the courtroom atmosphere and surroundings.

Darrow informed International News Service that he would call to noted mainland psychiatrists, Dr. Edward Huntington Williams and Dr. Thomas J. Orsborn, to lay the foundations for a general defense of insanity.

Lieut. Massie is on trial accused of second degree murder of Kahahawai, along with his ruffianistic father-in-law, Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, and two naval enlisted men, Albert S. Jones and E. J. Lord.

The "mental blank" that engulfed Lieut. Massie after the Kahahawai attack, which he said was along with four other half-breeds, will be explained by the two alienists, after minor defense witnesses have been heard, Darrow said.

TESTS BY ALIENISTS

For nearly two weeks Drs. Williams and Orsborn have had Lieut. Massie under daily observation. Darrow admitted, and they also have given him mental examinations.

Just what conclusions they have reached the astute Darrow declined to reveal, but it was understood they were prepared to testify that hysteria and emotional instability acted the officer when Kahahawai admitted the assault.

For two hours Prosecutor John C. Kelley hammered at Lieut. Massie, endeavoring both to shake his confidence and to make him admit that he is shielding the real slayer—said to be the defense of insanity, but the young officer survived the questioning with his testimony unshaken.

Kelley scored one minor victory, however.

He won from Lieut. Massie the admission that he had been drinking on the night that his wife was attacked.

Kelley also forced the officer to reveal that he had been questioned by Long Island (N. Y.) police concerning the "kidnaping" of a baby, but the incident was so palpably absurd that it was generally admitted the reaction of the court favored Massie rather than the prosecution.

DEFENSE STRATEGY

Kelley dismissed Lieut. Massie from the witness stand with the reservation that he may be subjected to further cross-examination, although the prosecutor said today he may waive it.

It was the insanity plea on behalf of Lieut. Massie that opened the door for the defense to place the officer on the witness stand and draw from his own lips the story of mental suffering he underwent after the attack on his wife, and as much detail of the kidnaping of Kahahawai as he remembered before something snapped in his brain.

Meanwhile, Prosecutor Kelley, seeking to resist the insanity contention, announced that Dr. Paul Bowers, Los Angeles alienist, is to arrive Thursday from the mainland to aid the state in its rebuttal testimony.

Kelley admitted that he sent a representative to Gov. Lawrence Judd to ascertain if territorial funds would be available to pay Bowers, and the local medical experts, Drs. Stanley D. Porteus and Robert B. Foss.

At first it was tentatively agreed.

TRAVELING MAN ENDORSES ALL-BRAN

Says It Brought Relief From Constipation

"I want to take this unsolicited means to tell you what ALL-BRAN has done for me."

"I am on the road all the time, and this has a tendency to constipate me, or any one who travels at the time. I used to suffer a great deal from constipation, until some one told me about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating this cereal, I have been cured of constipation. I heartily endorse it to anyone suffering as I did."—Mr. R. F. Fildard, Marion, N. C.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" and "Laxative." ALL-BRAN provides both. At the same time, it supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a non-corrective ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

How much better than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation—serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-white packages. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LINDY CASE HIS FIRST JOB

Chief of Police Roy Conant of Falmouth, recently promoted from sergeant to take the place of Chief Mercer, resigned. Chief Conant immediately plunged into the Lindbergh hunt, which has held the attention of the Cape for the past three weeks. (Staff Photo.)

SUIT HALTED AS MEDIUM GOES INTO TRANCE

London, April 19 (AP).—A woman spiritualist medium interrupted her damage suit today by going into a trance in the midst of the court's summation of the case.

She was Mrs. Maurig Morris, who charged that a newspaper had printed an article about her which was advertised as "trance medium found out."

While Justice MacCardie was summing up the case for the jury, Mrs. Morris suddenly stood up with her eyes closed and said in a deep voice:

"Hearken to my voice, oh brother judge."

The justice ordered her to be seated. "Let her speak," Justice MacCardie demurred and ordered her taken out of the courtroom, but when the usher went toward her, she said:

"Do not touch her until I have left her body."

The witnesses in the case included Lady Conant Doyle, Sir Oliver Lodge and other spiritualists.

Suicide Describes Feelings as He Dies by Fumes

New York, April 19 (AP).—Edward Koren, 23, secretary to the general manager of Coney Island's ocean railway, ended his life with gas as he sat in his apartment last night and wrote a note describing how it felt. He was a Chicagoan.

"It is just a little after 8:30 p. m.," he scribbled in pencil. "I have just turned on the gas. I am going—going—going—ha—going to another world as I am afraid to live in this one."

"The blood is beginning to pool on my temples. It does not hurt. It is getting warmer here. I can feel my hours working fast. My head is in trouble now. I am getting a little bit dizzy. The gas does not smell unpleasant. "I picked this chair because it is comfortable to sit in while the gas is on. Just sit back and relax. It won't be long now. I want to be buried in these clothes. I am He was unmarried and asked in another note that his sister, Betty Koren, of Chicago, and Ray Cystaugh, also of Chicago, be notified.

Ice, made this way, is more palatable

To possess that crystal-clear, appetizing quality for which Boston Ice is noted, ice must be made in well-ventilated, hygienic plants. The water—four times filtered—must be frozen in large covered containers far from any atmosphere of meat and vegetable odors. In The Boston Ice plants the water is constantly aerated, kept constantly in motion during freezing, to give the ice its hardness, its transparency. Made this modern way, the ice you use for beverages has greater purity, lasts longer, and is far more palatable than cubes frozen as a by-product of food preservation.

What $16,000 buys
in The American Weekly

A full page in color more than twice the size of any other magazine page in the world... 5,500,000 families at a cost of less than 3¢ cent per family
... The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

DEPARTMENT STORES, grocery stores, drug stores, hardware stores, automobile dealers—big chains and small retailers—realize that it pays to feature nationally advertised merchandise.

But in times like these the retailer refuses to get excited about "national advertising" that is spread too thin to exert real local influence. The only advertising that really interests him is national advertising that reaches a substantial proportion of his customers and his prospects.

There is one publication with dominating national circulation and powerful local concentration; one national weekly magazine with real local influence—The American Weekly.

Show the retailer an advertising campaign scheduled to appear in this Mighty Magazine and watch him sit up and take notice.

Choice display positions in his store, and valuable window space as well, are gladly given to merchandise that is featured in The American Weekly.

Dealers cooperate with advertisers who use
The American Weekly for the simple reason that it pays them to do so.

With five and one-half million circulation, nearly twice that of any other magazine, The American Weekly takes your advertising message into one out of every five homes in these United States.

Break down the cost of $16,000 per color page and you find it amounts to less than 1/3 cent per family reached.

Less than one-third of a penny for one of those big smashing color pages that are more than twice the size of any other magazine page.

Editorially, The American Weekly is absorbing in its interest. Every issue contains material of vital interest to every family it reaches.

When you place your advertising in this Mighty Magazine you are driving home your sales story to the largest, richest, most responsive market in the nation.

That's why so many successful advertisers buy The American Weekly and successfully merchandise their advertising to the retailers.

Where this magazine goes

The American Weekly dominates the urban markets by concentrating 70% of its total circulation in 578 of America's 297 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over. (1930 U. S. census figures.)

In each of 152 cities, it reaches one out of every two families
In 108 more cities, 40 to 50% of the families

In an additional 146 cities, 30 to 40%

In another 172 cities, 20 to 30%

... and, in addition, more than 1,700,000 families in thousands of other communities, large and small, regularly buy The American Weekly.

That is why The American Weekly offers the drive and force required to sell goods in 1932.

Where can you spend your advertising dollar more effectively?

Cock-A-Doodle-Do

The April 17, 1932 issue of The American Weekly is the largest in volume of advertising fringe and revenue ever published, exceeding the last record-breaking issue by many thousands of dollars.

STOCKS MOVING

New York, April 29.—The stock market in Wall street today was a dead calm, with only a few stocks moving.

Nothing was about to happen in the market, but the drift of prices was still downward, save for a temporary upturn in the rate in the late morning. Most issues moved narrowly, but isolated weak points continued to crop out.

NEW LOWS ARE SET

The market was somewhat unsettled after midday by conspicuous weakness in Allied Chemical, which fell to a new low.

American Telephone declined 2 1/2 points. It had suggested more to the point, to new bottom prices for the first time since 1929.

The market had a heavy closing, although continued to move in a narrow range, with isolated weak points and volume approximated a million shares. Most of the day's trading was in the late afternoon.

U. S. Steel ended near 80 for an extreme decline. American Can dropped 1/2, later recovering in response to a rumor that the company had been sold.

U. S. Steel ended near 80 for an extreme decline. American Can dropped 1/2, later recovering in response to a rumor that the company had been sold.
